Three Planes Are In Collision, 25 or 30 Bodies Found

Wreckage Found In Remote Sector Of Florida; Had Been in Maneuvers

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 10 —(P)— Between 25 and 30 bodies were removed from the wreckage of two four-engined bombers and a smaller plane which crashed today in a remote sector north of Munson, L. C. Cook, dispatcher for the State Forest Service, reported.

Cook said a search party from the naval air training center here went to the scene, and that he was informed by members of the party the death toll exceeded 25.

Cook, who is stationed at Munson, said he saw three planes flying north about 10:30 o'clock this morning. The craft apparently were engaged in maneuvers and the smaller ship was diving in the direction of the bombers, he reported. A short while later he saw a column of smoke and sent a ranger to investigate.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 10—(P)—The senate passed and sent to the house today legislation authorizing a $3,750,000,000 loan to Great Britain.

By a vote of 46 to 34 the senate approved a measure that supporters said would open the way to lifting of currency and other restrictions on world trade.

With the loan measure cleared, the senate voted to take up labor control legislation immediately.

Blocked Action On Draft

Member of Military Committee Objects To Request for Con- sent to Quick Action

WASHINGTON, May 10 —(P)—An objection by Rep. Sheridan (D-Pa.) blocked immediate House action today on stop-gap legislation extending the draft law until July 1.

Sheridan, a member of the military committee, objected to a request of Chairman May (D-Ky.) for unanimous consent for immediate action on the measure, passed yesterday by the Senate.

However, there was no objection to a later request for House consideration next Monday, two days before the present draft law expires.

Discussion indicated that an attempt will be made Monday to write into the stop-gap legislation a ban against induction of teen-agers.

The House banned the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds when it passed last month a separate bill extending the draft law until next February 15. The Senate has not acted on that bill.

The July 1 extended received military committee approval in the morning.

Still Uncertainties
The measure, an obvious expedient designed to give congress more legislative elbow room, leaves the ultimate fate of selective service still beset with uncertainties.

The stop-gap bill to keep the draft law—and all its amendments—functioning until July 1 still leaves very much on the congressional calendar a longer range measure vote by the House last month. The House approved the draft's extension until next February 15, but banned drafting of teen-agers and ordered a five-month holiday on new inductions.

The Senate, long embroiled over the British loan, has yet to act on its own version of this measure—calling for a full year extension and no "holiday." Should it fail to do so before July 1, the draft law would expire on that date under the terms of the stop-gap legislation.

Mrs. G. B. Cook Dies After Autos Collide

Eight Others Are Injured in Wreck West Of Dresden

Mrs. Bessie Irene Cook, wife of G. B. Cook, 1510 East Broadway, was fatally injured about 6 o'clock Thursday night when the car which Mr. Cook was driving, and a car driven by Charles Guier, Sweet Springs R. F. D. No. 2, collided about a mile west of Dresden on highway 50. Five other passengers in the Guier car, and Mrs. Margaret O'Bannon also in the Cook car were slightly injured.

Mrs. Cook died about 7 o'clock at the Bothwell hospital a few minutes after being taken there in the McLaughlin ambulance.

The Injured in the Cook Car:
Mr. Cook has a sprained right ankle and left wrist, back sprain and numerous bruises and contusions over the entire body.

Mrs. Margaret O'Bannon, 1320 South Ohio avenue, suffering from shock, and numerous body bruises.

Injured in the Guier Car:
Charles Guier, laceration on the forehead over the left eye, laceration on the right knee, bruises to both arms.

Edmund Guier, father of the driver and owner of the car, slight cut on the nose.

Mrs. Edmund Guier, mother, fracture of two ribs on the right side, possible fracture of a bone in the left hand, numerous body bruises.

Mrs. Ruby Guier, wife of Paul Guier, expectant mother, received cut on the chin, front teeth knocked loose, severe cut on the tongue, left knee bruises, and shock.

Paul Guier has a slight bruise on the left knee.

Robert Eugene Guier, brother, slight bruise on the right leg.

Brought Here in Ambulances

In the McLaughlin ambulance which took Mrs. Cook to the hospital were Mr. Cook, and members of the Guier family. Other members of the Guier family were taken to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance.

Mrs. O'Bannon was taken to the hospital in an automobile driven by John Bucholtz, 665 East Fourteenth street, who was accompanied by John Gant, 1400 South Quincy avenue.

Mr. Cook stated he was driving his 1941 Hudson sedan west on highway 50 en route to Knob Noster. He said that he was going up the slight grade and on a curve on the blacktop pavement, when he came up behind a slow moving truck. Mr. Cook said he was not driving more than 45 miles per hour and that when he applied his brakes the car began skidding.

"The blacktop highway was extremely slippery due to the rain which was falling," Mr. Cook said, "and I began to slow down because I saw the other car approaching from the west. The car got out of control because of the slippery highway and the accident was just unavoidable."

Guier, who was driving a 1939 Pontiac five-passenger coupe, said he didn't have an opportunity to stop his car to avoid the accident. He said the first he saw the car appeared out of control was when

Ration Board Places Vacant

James Franks, who resigned as clerk of the Ration board, to become superintendent at the Bothwell hospital, effective May 15, is taking advantage of a few days leave to which he is entitled, to be at the hospital and familiarize himself with the new duties he will assume.

To date, there has been no successor appointed to Mr. Franks as clerk of the Ration board, nor has there been any appointment of a chairman to succeed W. M. Ilgenfritz, who resigned some weeks ago.

Knocked From Pole By Shock

Arthur Wenig, Of Cole Camp, Is Critically Injured

Arthur Wenig, 55, of Cole Camp, lineman for the Missouri Public Service corporation, suffered critical injuries Thursday afternoon when he came in contact with a 4,000 volt line while working in Windsor and was knocked from a light pole, falling 25 feet to the ground.

He is a patient at the Bothwell hospital where x-rays revealed that he sustained a fracture of the pelvis on the left side, two fractured processes of the fifth vertebra and probably internal injuries.

Wenig also suffered minor burns on his arms, bruises, and shock. He was treated at the hospital by Dr. J. E. Mitchell.

The mishap occurred about 3:30 o'clock while Wenig was working on a light pole near the shoe factory in Windsor.

Rushed To Hospital

Wenig, who is employed through the Cole Camp office, was working on the distribution system and somehow contacted the "hot" line, but apparently did not receive the full force of the electrical shock.

A fellow employee witnessed his fall and Wenig was rushed in the Huston ambulance, of Windsor, to Sedalia.

L. H. Boesch, manager of the Cole Camp office, when notified by F. S. Sappington, manager in Windsor, of the accident came to Sedalia to be with Wenig at the hospital.

Lewis Calls For Two-Week Truce; Answer Late Today

40-Day Strike Hits Nation, Curtails Passenger Travel; Order to Ration Gas

WASHINGTON, May 10—(P)— The 40-day soft coal strike hit the nation relentlessly harder today, curtailing railroad passenger travel, ending all but priority freight shipments and bringing an order for rationing of illuminating gas.

Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small called for government seizure of the idle mines before the country's economy is completely paralyzed, but he had no visible effect on the deadlocked negotiations between John L. Lewis and the operators. Both camps seemed as much at loggerheads as ever.

The White House likewise let Small's proposal pass in silence. However, President Truman was reported close to a "militant" mood and ready to act if the disputants fail to agree on a settlement formula he is drafting.

On Capitol Hill, congressional blood pressure pushed the danger point as lawmakers threatened to rip the whole field of labor legislation wide open in an angry new effort to curb major strikes. In both House and Senate advocates of restrictive measures clamored for action on their proposals.

Other Threats

Spurring factors were the virtual rail freight embargo which went into effect at 12:01 this morning, the accompanying 25 per cent reduction in passenger service on coal burning lines, and the order for rationing of illuminating gas by utilities with depleted fuel supplies.

There was the threat, too, that strike-born shortages in tinplate would cripple canneries, with a resultant spoilage of needed food. And Small, who foresaw that danger, declared still further controls "comparable to those required during the war" probably will be required.

As the crisis deepened, paramount interest centered on what plan Mr. Truman might produce for ending the stalemate. Speculation fixed on two major possibilities:

1. A White House conference of Lewis and the operators—separately or jointly.

2. Government seizure of the mines with Lewis agreeing to urge the strikers back to their pits while the government helps work out a contract within a specified period of time, perhaps thirty days.

The latter procedure was followed by President Roosevelt in 1943, and former Secretary of Interior Ickes, as solid fuels administrator, finally signed a contract with Lewis providing for underground travel time—the major issue for which the miners had struck. But it took many months, and there were intermittent strikes.

Lewis gave no indication that he might agree to such a proposal this time. He has not been present at the government sponsored strike conferences, except briefly, in the past four days. Other members of the union's negotiating committee have been attending the meetings.

Nevertheless, federal mediators Edward F. McGrady and Paul W. Fuller reported an "encouraging" trend in the sessions yesterday, leading to some optimism after the long series of daily "no progress" comments.

Ship of the Tongue
SEATTLE, May 10.—(P)—Philippine High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt proved himself a diplomat as he stepped from his plane here, after a flight from the Orient, via Adak in the Aleutians.

"After Manila, this cool climate is wonderful," he exclaimed.

Then he smiled and added quickly: "After Adak, this warm weather is wonderful."

Housing Problem
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 10 —(P)—If the lumber shortage is driving you nuts, consider the poor squirrels.

Mill Operator Al Newlander says timber is being cut, loaded and hauled from the woods so fast that the other day a squirrel showed up in his yard on a truck load of lumber—none the wiser for his trip.

Poppy Day is May 25

National Poppy day will be observed here May 25 by the sale of memorial poppies by members of the Spiz Club of Smith-Cotton high school for World War II Memorial Post of Sedalia's Veterans of Foreign Wars. The poppies, made by disabled veterans of both World Wars, are to be worn in honor of the dead of both World Wars.

Folks Trying to Settle Coal Strike Make Their Sixth Move

By Arthur L. Edson

WASHINGTON, May 10—(P)— Anybody with a nice, airy room which lends itself to shouting and table pounding should get in touch at once with the people trying to settle the coal strike.

They made their sixth move this morning, and it's an even money bet they'll be roosting somewhere else by nightfall.

"The biggest conference in the country today," Federal Conciliator Edward McGrady moaned to reporters, "and the government can't find any suitable place for us. Isn't that ridiculous?"

Let's take a quick tour of the places the conference has met—and consider the reasons it left:

Labor conference room — nice spot, except the walls are painted an atrocious green. Somebody else (no one seems to know who) wanted it, so out went the coal conference.

Not Big Enough
Room 7219 labor department—this is in the children's bureau and wasn't big enough.

Room 3428 labor department—poor acoustics.

Projection room, patent office—this should have made the disputants happy. Windowless, it looked like the inside of a coal mine. Almost impossible to find. Best bet: go up two flights, walk a block, go down one flight. Then holler for help.

Hotel dining room — delegates claimed there wasn't enough air.

Now, back to room 7219 in the children's bureau. Since our last visit, the negotiating committee has been cut from around 50 to 25. Still looks like a tight squeeze.

Reporters Tromp In

Reporters, barred from all meetings, tromped into the hotel room yesterday after the conference broke up, eager to give the public every scrap of information they could find.

Instead they found scraps of paper, mostly filled with doodling. But a few contained such jottings as:

"Very short. Read papers. Hard up. Save gas."

And this: "Nuts. Nuts."

"What doctor? Who was the fellow who got licked?"

The saddest seemed to be this doodler. He had patiently fancy-lettered these two words:

"No bar."

Many Expected Here Saturday

Many visitors are expected in Sedalia Saturday to attend the meeting that night at which Senator Frank P. Briggs will open his campaign for re-election to the senate.

Senator Briggs, Mrs. Briggs and their daughter, Miss Dorothy, will arrive in Sedalia on the Eagle, at noon. They will be joined by Governor Phil M. Donnelly and other friends from other cities after their arrival here.

The meeting will be in front of the court house, weather permitting, otherwise it will be at the Armory.

Between 3:00 and 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Briggs and daughter will be honor guests at a tea at the Bothwell hotel, to which the women of Pettis county are invited.

The meeting will be broadcast over a special Missouri network.

Declare Lewis Truce is Only Temporary

Senatorial Critics Demand to go Ahead With Legislation

WASHINGTON, May 10—(P)— Senatorial critics declared today that John L. Lewis' coal strike truce is "only temporary" and demanded that the senate go ahead with strike control legislation.

Senator Eastland (D-Miss) told reporters he will insist on speedy action on a revised version of the house-approved Case bill, which the senate was expected to take up this afternoon immediately after disposing of the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill.

"Lewis' offer gives the American people a temporary reprieve from death," Eastland declared.

"The fight must go on to curb him and his kind. Congress should not leave the power in the hands of any one man to destroy the nation."

Democratic leader Barkley (Ky) told reporters that the Case bill will be called up on schedule.

He said that Lewis' action justifies the hope that during the truce period an agreement can be reached between the mine operators and the union so the strike need not be resumed.

Critical at Delay

Senator Brooks (R-Ill) observed that the same result might have been obtained much sooner if President Truman had invited the operators and union representatives to the White House several days ago instead of waiting until today.

Eastland said he expects the "real fight" in the senate to come over efforts to write into the Case bill a provision outlawing the closed shop.

Bishop to Confirm at Episcopal Church

Bishop Robert N. Spencer, of Kansas City, will conduct confirmation services at Calvary Episcopal church, Broadway and Ohio, at 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning.

Operators Will Issue Statement After Conference With White House

WASHINGTON, May 10—

(P)—John L. Lewis, president of the striking United Mine Workers, and Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, went into conference with President Truman late today at the White House.

WASHINGTON, May 10 —(P)—John L. Lewis proposed a two-week truce in the paralyzing coal strike today but operators deferred a decision until after a White House conference with President Truman at 4:00 p. m. (EST).

Lewis offered to send the 400,000 United Mine Workers back to the pits immediately, with full crews returning on Monday. He tackled on a proviso however, that the truce would be effective only if the operators agreed to make retroactive any wage increase subsequently granted.

This brought from the operators' negotiating committee this terse statement:

"The operators' negotiating committee will issue a statement of their position after meeting with the President. In the meantime the committee suggests that the operators in the field await advice from it."

Despite the truce move, the Civilian Production Administration said coal conservation orders "will remain in effect until the emergency is definitely over."

Situation Still Critical

A spokesman for the agency told reporters also the government is not withdrawing its request for a dim-out in the coal burning areas of 22 eastern and mid-western states.

"The situation still is critical," the spokesman said, "and there still is a very great need to save all the coal we can."

"This action is the contribution of the United Mine Workers of America to our nation's economy," Lewis telegraphed the locals, "which is being imperilled by the stupidity and selfish greed of the coal operators and associated financial interests and by demagogues who have tried to lash the public mind into a state of hysteria rather than grant justice and fair treatment to the men who mine the nation's coal."

Acted Quickly

Lewis acted less than an hour after President Truman invited the mine leader and a representative of the operators to a White House conference at 4 p. m. EST.

The UMW chieftain told the union locals: "The coal to be mined during this two week (truce) period can be utilized for consumption of essential facilities and the nation's health and security safeguarded while efforts to negotiate a contract continue."

"Let every member be assured that the members of the national policy committee are determined to accept no contract that will not give to the mine workers the essential protection which is imperatively required."

Lewis called in reporters three hours before the scheduled White House conference and announced that the policy committee of 250 strike leaders had unanimously authorized sending of the telegram to each local union.

Simultaneously, a close associate of President Truman reported the chief executive was considering proposing an 18½ cent an hour wage increase and the establishment of a commission controlled health and welfare fund in an effort to end the strike.

This official, who cannot be named but who participated in White House discussions of the plan said the president appeared to have decided he would make a definite proposal in the hope of obtaining a compromise.

This plan, he said, included no provision for royalty payments on coal produced, such as operators say have been demanded by Lewis.

As the White House proposal tentatively took shape, it was reported as follows:

Establishment of a three-member commission which would supervise the collection and distribution of a fund to be established for miners' health and benefits.

Method of Selection

One member of this commission would be chosen by the operators, a second by the mine union and a third named to represent the public.

Smith-Cotton Senior Hurt in Jump Off Car

Was Taking Part In Kid Day Celebration

Betty McReynolds, 18, daughter of Mrs. Beryl McReynolds, 914 West Fourth street, was injured about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when she jumped from a car and struck her head on the pavement at Broadway and Engineer avenue. She was celebrating with the seniors of Smith-Cotton high school the observance of Kid day.

According to witnesses who saw the accident Miss McReynolds was riding on the side of a car driven by Mrs. Bernice Lovins, 17, 1022 East Fourteenth, who was headed west on Broadway, and jumped from that car to the side of a car driven by Miss Mary Lou Witte, 17, 608 West Sixteenth and then jumped from the Witte car while it was in motion.

According to Miss Witte, the McReynolds girl was not with her but had been riding on the car driven by Mrs. Lovins, a senior, and as they got to Broadway and Engineer got off that car onto her car as she was driving off. She said that she started to pull to the curb to stop and let the girl get off the car when she suddenly leaped into the air and fell to the pavement.

Woman Saw Accident

Mrs. Mary Freund, 713 South Engineer, said she was standing in her window and saw the girl when she apparently jumped from the moving car. She told a story similar to that of Miss Witte.

The McReynolds girl was taken to the Bothwell hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance where Dr. J. E. Mitchell gave medical attention. She received a laceration under the left eye, bruises on her face and abrasions on the left elbow. She was later released from the hospital to go to her home.

Sergeant Cecil Smith and Officer Aubrey Jordan answered the call and made an investigation. Police then gave orders that any "Kids" caught riding the side of automobiles would be taken to police headquarters and held there until "Kid Day" was over.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, May 10—Tragedy of the coal strike situation is that public reaction against John L. Lewis has diverted attention away from one very just grievance on the part of the miners — mine accidents.

Lumbering, coal and metal mining cost more lives per working hour than any other industries in the nation. According to the National Safety Council there are 50.5 disabling injuries for every 1,000,000 man-hours in the coal and metal mines, compared to 14.46 disabling injuries per 1,000,000 man-hours of work in the entire nation.

As late as 1941 congress passed the National Coal Mine inspection act empowering annual inspection of mines by the U. S. bureau of mines. However, the coal operators' lobby in congress succeeded in winning its battle against compulsion. In other words, the operators don't have to carry out bureau of mines recommendations. The bureau can only advise.

Larger mines, however, usually do carry out these recommendations, and it is the small mines where most accidents occur.

The day after last Christmas, there was an explosion in the Belva mine near Pineville, Ky. Twenty-six lost their lives. This mine was not "gassy" under Kentucky law, which meant that men could work in it with open (carbide) lamps. The bureau of mines, however, held that it was gassy and suggested the use of closed (electric) lamps. The bureau's tests had shown one-tenth of 1 per cent of gas, but the mine had been closed for three days over Christmas and the gas had accumulated.

Result: The bodies of 20 men still lie buried in the Belva mine.

State Inspectors Lax
Conflict also exists between the state and federal inspection, with the operators preferring state inspectors, who are more lax, more politically minded, and sometimes conspiring with the operators.

State laws also vary greatly. And the bureau of mines cannot make a flat recommendation contrary to state law. For instance, the big mining states of Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia have laws to determine, by use of a flame safety lamp, when a mine is gassy. This lamp can pick up deadly methane, the most common mine explosive gas, down to a minimum of around 1 per cent.

However, the bureau of mines insists that a mine is gassy and dangerous if there is as much as one-tenth of 1 per cent of methane present, and the bureau, not trusting the safety lamp, makes its test by a laboratory analysis which is foolproof.

Uniform Inspection Act
Unquestionably the miners deserve a uniform national mine inspection act giving the federal government full power of enforcement. Also there is a lot of merit to the idea of a welfare fund—but not when controlled by one man, and not when rammed down the throat of the American public at the point of a gun. Nearest thing to a welfare fund in any other industry is the fund administered by the railroad retirement board which was created by an act of congress.

If there was more leadership in Washington, the ground would have been cut from under John L. Lewis long ago by a move to meet the miners' safety and welfare demands by legislation, instead of allowing the situation to strangle the nation's economy.

Under the Dome
Democratic national committee chairman Bob Hannegan tried to submit his resignation to President Truman last weekend, but was turned down cold. Hannegan's wife and doctor are both urging him to resign. However, the president told Hannegan he could not be spared, at least until after the November elections. President Truman has asked Secretary of the Interior Cap Krug to set up an inter-departmental committee to handle oil problems to be composed of interior, navy, war, treasury, congress and the state department. This is exactly what Harold Ickes urged at the start of the Pauley fight. If accepted, Ickes wouldn't have raised such a row.

Truman, at that time, however, said such a board would be an affront to his pal Pauley. . . . Members of the "Bring Back Daddy club," organized by wives and mothers of men with children who are still in the service, are scheduled to descend on Washington on Monday, May 13. They have served advance notice they will remain until the release of all fathers in the armed forces is guaranteed by congress or the army and navy. Any time a group of determined women stage a sit-down lobby in the capitol there should be interesting developments. . . . UNRRA Director General Fiorello LaGuardia is

THE STORY: Ken Newkirk, who deals in antiques as well as insurance, tells Agnes her dining room set is worth $300 or $400, but wants an expert to see it before making an offer. Debby says if so much money is involved they'd better deal with someone they can trust. Ellie is livid at the insult to his friend and forces Debby to apologize.

XVI

IF anything, the doctor said the next morning, the row seemed to have done Ellie good. He'd better stay in bed today, he said, but tomorrow he could probably get up for a while.

In the afternoon Bart brought the barber out from the village, and you'd never have known Ellie for the same man after he'd had a shave and his hair trimmed up and combed. Bart had brought a lot of ice cream too, and Ellie liked that. He sat up in bed eating it and joking with Bart while Agnes and Debby and Joel were sitting there in the dining room, and his voice was still husky but not wheezy the way it had been.

And suddenly he called out, "Hi there, Joel," and caught Debby sort of off her guard and she had to run out to the kitchen to keep Joel from seeing the tears in her eyes. That was all there was to it, practically, just "Hi there, Joel," Joel did say, "Hi, Ellie, how you feeling?" and Ellie answered, "Fine, how's yours?" and that was all there was to it, but Debby knew it was for her, and it was just the same as if Ellie had brought her a dozen roses.

But later, when she took Joel in to see him, she could tell in a minute that Ellie still didn't like him. He had looked first at her and then at Joel, and she could tell it right away from the way he looked at him.

IN the summer Bull had killed 10 decoy ducks belonging to Leander Platt, John Qualey, the dog warden, warned Debby then that she would have to keep Bull tied.

"A bird dog ain't much use," Ellie had said, "if he's tied up all the time."

"I know, Ellie, but it's the law," John Qualey had answered. "If I see him running loose after this, it's up to me to shoot him."

So Bull had learned to work towing 60 to 70 yards of clothesline behind him. He ranged free when no one was in sight, but Debby was always ready to grab the end of the rope.

He was wild. All fall, whenever anybody had brought out a gun, he had started to yip and skid around the kitchen, which just went to show, Debby maintained, that he had had some real training down there in Tennessee after all. It was about the only proof there was.

But this morning, when Bart and Joel had appeared with their guns in their hands, he had seemed to sense that this time it really did mean business, and he had gone so wild around the house that they had had to hurry him out into the yard to save the furniture.

She had left her gun home, figuring that handling him would be a full-time job, and she had tied the end of the leash around her waist, just to be sure, and then coiled 50 yards of it in her hand, leaving him with 40 yards of scope, which didn't seem to him to be nearly enough. All the way up the first long hill it was a tug of war, with Bull's belly scraping the ground and his muscles working like spring steel, and Debby pulling and shouting and laughing and leaning backwards so far that if Bull had let up suddenly it would have been bad news.

AS they got into the good country, Debby suddenly knew that Bull was hunting. He was straining on the line much as he had been, but there was something different about it, and she knew he had stopped romping and now he was hunting. And she liked the way he looked: his head high and working from side to side, sort of sampling the wind, and all his funny looks, she thought, he looked like a bird dog. He was hunting now, and there was no reason why she shouldn't let him off the leash.

She pulled him in and untied the knot.

Bull started out at a run, and Debby watched him anxiously. As he got about 70 yards away he slowed down to a trot, looking over his shoulder, and then it gradually dawned on him that Debby no longer had hold of the other end of the line, and he started to run again.

"Bull," she called sharply.

But Bull had his nose pointed straight out across the valley, and now he was galloping.

"Bull!" He was already across the valley and halfway up the other side. "Bull!" He didn't so much as turn his head.

"Bull, Bull, Bull." Her voice was a loud, plaintive wail, and as she called Bull was disappearing over the hill.

"Let's spread out," said Bart. "Maybe he'll swing around one side or the other. Joel, you go over to that hill and move along that way, and I'll go over this way. You keep right along here in the middle, Debby."

Joel had gone only about 50 yards when he stopped and called. "There's a dog," he said, pointing. "But it isn't Bull."

Debby couldn't see, and she ran over beside him. As she got there, he pointed again, and she looked and saw the dog. And right away she knew the dog, a small black and white setter, and she was so scared she was almost sick to her stomach.

"That's John Qualey's dog," she said. She wiped her hand across her forehead and stared at Joel. "We got to find Bull quick. Get hold of that rope and hold on to it."

preparing to register a stiff protest at the White House against the lady dictator of the state department, Mrs. Ruth B. Shipley, dispenser of passports. La Guardia complains that Earl Browder, once convicted of passport fraud, had no trouble getting his papers to go to Moscow. Yet several members of UNRRA missions hired to go to Norway, White Russia and China have been refused passports by Lady Dictator Shipley. . . . Though his commerce department is in charge of U. S. foreign trade policy, Secretary Henry Wallace is still being denied a chance to read the report on Russian economy sent the state department by George Kennon of Moscow embassy. This report, under lock and key at the White House, has even been shown to Republican Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, but not to the cabinet officer in charge of foreign trade. . . . While the Russians beam 11 broadcasts daily to the USA, we will have no voice to compete with those of the Kremlin, London, Paris or Madrid — if the action of the house in cutting the state department's international information service is upheld by the senate. The budget voted by the house is too small, and the state department will probably have to abandon the one effective means of getting the story of America across censorship barriers to the rest of the world.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has persuaded the United States to loan England 12 transports to move the 200,000 anti-Soviet Polish troops from Italy back to England. Secretary of State Jas. Byrnes has rejected a proposal from Bevin to move these Poles to the United States. . . . It was all set for Herbert Hoover to visit Russia when Secretary of State Byrnes intervened. The Russians had given their okay but suddenly Byrnes cabled Hoover urging him not to go. . . . New Philippine President-elect Manuel Roxas will arrive in Washington about the middle of this month. . . . Former Polish Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk has warned the allies that there can be no free elections in Poland until the Red army gets out. Mikolajczyk also charged that the Red army con-

Threat Of Frost For The Mid-West

CHICAGO, May 10.—(P)—Several midwestern states are threatened with killing frost and freezing temperatures over the week-end, the weather bureau reported Thursday.

Forecaster H. L. Jacobson said a cold air mass from Canada threatened to bring frost to portions of Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan Friday night and Saturday and probably, by Saturday morning to some parts of Illinois and Indiana.

In northern Wisconsin the mercury was expected to drop to between 15 and 20 degrees in the Cranberry Bog area around Wisconsin Rapids and Spooner. A low of 26 was predicted for Minnesota.

The cold front entered Minnesota, Nebraska and northwest Iowa tonight, accompanied by general showers and strong northerly winds. It was snowing in southern Montana and eastern Wyoming, Jacobson said.

it skidded out from behind the truck which was just ahead of the Cook automobile. Guier was headed east toward Dresden when the accident occurred.

The left front part of the Pontiac crashed into the right front part of the Hudson, causing the Hudson to swerve and head back toward the east, while the coupe continued a few feet farther west and came to a stop on the edge of the pavement. Both automobiles were badly damaged. They were taken to Manley's garage at Dresden.

Mrs. Cook, who was riding in the front seat, was thrown out onto the blacktop pavement, along the southside of the highway.

The Cooks were enroute to the Knob Noster cemetery where they were going to inspect some grave markers for Mrs. O'Bannon.

State Trooper Sergeant Fred Rodecker and Trooper Pete Stohr conducted an investigation of the accident.

Dr. Kenneth Holdren, coroner, viewed the body and after conducting an investigation said he did not believe an inquest was necessary as there was no criminal liability involved.

Born Near Longwood
Mrs. Cook was born twelve miles north of Sedalia near Longwood, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Murphy.

She was a member of the Epworth Methodist church, also a member of the Order of Eastern Star in Davenport, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married June 16, 1920.

Surviving besides her husband are the following brothers and sisters, John D. Murphy, 1502 East Broadway, William Murphy, Kansas City, Mrs. Albert Sands of Wichita Falls, Texas, Mrs. K. C. Lee of Bakersfield, California, and Dr. F. O. Murphy, 1001 East Fourth street. Two step-daughters Miss Nellie Cook and Mrs. Lucille Jetton, and step granddaughter Jo Ann Jetton all of Los Angeles, California.

Had Sold Home

Mr. and Mrs. Cook recently had sold their home on East Broadway, and he had also disposed of his monument business at Third street and Massachusetts avenue, with plans to go to California. They were preparing to leave for the west within a short time and were to make their home with Mr. Cook's daughters at Los Angeles, Calif.

Prior to going to Los Angeles, they had planned a vacation of several weeks.

Miss Nellie Cook, arrived this afternoon from California, having flown from Los Angeles to Kansas City and to Sedalia by train.

The body is at McLaughlin's chapel.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the McLaughlin chapel, with Rev. H. U. Campbell, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, to officiate.

Mrs. J. B. Lyon will be in charge of the music.

Pallbearers will be Arthur Scott, Arthur Hoffman, O. W. Rathel of Jefferson City, Sylvester Broadus, Loren Broadus and Clyde Heynen.

Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

Mother's Day

Sunday is Mother's Day. It is an occasion America pays generous tribute to its mothers. But it should also be an occasion for mothers themselves to ponder the important role they are called upon to play in preserving the home and the integrity of the nation.

The nation is best served by mothers who seek conscientiously to perpetuate the tradition of the Christian home as the greatest insurance of national prosperity and well-being.

The true work of the mother is the work of her home. The good mother has been described as the greatest of all artists because her vocation is the shaping of souls. It is the mother who spends most time with the child and is thus given the greatest opportunity to mold his thoughts and character.

At his mother's knee, the child learns to pray and to know God. The lessons a child learns from his mother are received with implicit confidence and unquestioning faith. That is why neither church nor school can instill a greater love of God in young hearts. The true mother raises her children not only to be good Christians, but good citizens and good neighbors.

Edison said of his mother that "she was the making of me." Other great men of history have paid similar tributes. If the temptations that surround children are greater today than ever before, the challenge to motherhood is also greater. It is natural for children to be rebellious and difficult at times, but the mother who is generous in devotion and understanding need never worry. She will raise worthy sons and daughters.

Sunday School Lesson

Learning to Live Together Scripture: Matthew 18:15-22; Mark 3:13-14; 10:35-45; Luke 22:24-30.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D. Someone evidently had offended the Apostle Peter, and Peter came to Jesus, inquiring how often a brother should offend against him and be forgiven, "Until seven times?" asked Peter.

But Jesus said, "Not until seven times, but until seventy times seven."

That put forgiveness on a large basis, and that's where it ought to be put if there is to be forgiveness at all. The question and the answer, however, remind us that even the good men whom Jesus had called to the inner circle had to learn to live together.

They had left all to follow Jesus, but they had not left themselves. They had still their ambitions, their desire to be first, their notions of greatness. Living together naturally even to these disciples. It has to be learned and the disciples were fortunate in finding such a Teacher.

We, too, may learn in the school of Christ.

True life consists in a right sense of values. If we haven't proper standards, if we don't value things rightly, all will be wrong.

The late Dr. W. T. Gunn, a former Moderator of the United Church of Canada, used to give an address on the theme, "Is Your Square Square?" He told of putting up a little building with his two sons. Despite all their care things didn't seem to come out right. When they checked up, they found that the square they were using had evidently fallen on the hard rock of the island and been sprung, so that it was no longer true.

There are standards of living that correspond to the square and the plumb-line. If the sense of values and worth is wrong, the life will be wrong.

The hardest task that Jesus had was to make the disciples see what was most worthwhile, and what constituted true greatness.

They had the notions that have generally prevailed among men—that greatness consisted in place and position, in power and precedence. But Jesus said, "It shall not be so among you," and "He that would be greatest among you let him be the servant of all."

When He could not sufficiently impress the lesson with words, He taught them by example, washing their feet; assuring them that He had come, not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive," He said.

The world still does not accept the values and standards of Jesus; but the world cannot help acknowledging the greatness of those who most truly put the values that He taught into their lives.

It is the Saint Francisco, the Father Damien, the Dr. Grenfell, the servants and lovers of their fellowmen, not the conquerors and exploiters, who stand highest in greatness and honor.

Appropriation Bill Approved
JEFFERSON CITY, May 10.—(AP)—An omnibus appropriation bill calling for $63,803,465 was approved yesterday by the house appropriations committee after adding $97,200.
The funds are for the use of state elective offices, the highway department, the highway patrol and a number of other departments and agencies. Various offices had asked increases totaling nearly $900,000.
Among the increases were $15,000 for the adjutant-general's department, for the recording of veterans service records on film, and $39,000 to the highway patrol for extra salaries and construction of headquarters buildings at St. Joseph and Willow Springs.
Couldn't See Over the Bar
COLUMBUS, O., May 10.—(AP)—The State Liquor board had under consideration today the case of a diminutive night club operator who claimed he didn't know strip teasers performed at a stag party in his club because he couldn't see over the bar.
George D. Sherbon, owner of George's night club near Coshocton, appeared before the board yesterday to answer citations that two girls performed a strip tease dance and that lewd motion pictures were shown in his club during the party.
Sherbon testified the Booster club had arranged the party and he knew nothing about entertainment plans.
He said he was told pictures of "Notre Dame football and basketball games were to be shown," and claimed he was behind the bar and couldn't see the screen or the dancing girls. He told the board he was only five feet, three inches in height.

Change Hour of Game Due to Coal Shortage
ST. LOUIS, May 10.—(AP)—The coal shortage was blamed by the St. Louis Cardinals today in changing tomorrow night's scheduled game with Cincinnati to 2:30 p. m. (CDT).
Tonight's scheduled game was postponed by rain.
The St. Louis Browns still plan to open their night play against Boston here next Thursday unless they receive specific orders to the contrary, club representatives said.

Red Sox Stand
7 to 3 Chance
For Pennant

Based on Past
Records in History
Of Baseball

By Joe Reichler
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

From past records, the Boston Red Sox stand a seven-to-three chance of winning the American league pennant.

In defeating the Chicago White Sox, 7-5, yesterday to stretch their winning streak to 14 straight games, the Red Sox joined ten other junior circuit clubs which have won 14 or more consecutive games since the loop was organized in 1901. Seven of these went on to capture the flag.

The Red Sox need only a victory over the Yankees in their series opener at New York today to record the longest winning streak in the American league since the A's swept through 17 consecutive wins in 1931. Should Boston sweep the weekend three-game set, the Sox will rank second only to Chicago's hitless wonders of 1906. The National league record is 26 by the New York Giants in 1916.

Unusual Hitting

Phenomenal hitting has been the chief reason for Boston's greatest winning streak in the history of the club. In yesterday's win, for instance, Pitchers Jim Bagby and Mace Brown were belted for 15 hits yet came out on top with the help of some lusty slugging by Bobby Doerr, Ted Williams and Johnny Pesky.

The club, as a whole hitting an even .300, increased its league lead to four and a half games over the second place Yankees.

Nelson Potter, an old Yankee jinx who hasn't been beaten by the New Yorkers in two years, gained his fifth straight triumph over the McCarthymen when he pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 6-1 victory. Potter gave up but four hits and lost his shutout when Charlie Keller tagged him for a home run. A pair of four-masters by Chuck Stevens and Frank Mancuso iced the game for the Sewellmen who moved into the first division.

Many Homers

Homers played an important part in the New York Giants' 6-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Johnny Mize banged his fifth round tripper and Rookie Jack Graham his first to help Bill Voiselle gain his second win.

The Chicago Cubs were beaten, 5-2, in 12 innings by Billy Southworth's rejuvenated Boston Braves. The victory advanced the Braves to third place.

Brooklyn missed an opportunity to move into a first place tie with the idle St. Louis Cardinals when the Dodgers came out on the short end of an 8-7 score against the Cincinnati Reds. The Brooks almost duplicated Wednesday's uphill victory with a three-run outburst in the eighth and another tally in the ninth, but were squelched when the potential tying run was nipped at the plate.

The Detroit Tigers made it five wins in succession when they edged out Washington's Senators, 9-8, in another 12-inning affair.

Russ Derry, recently acquired from the New York Yankees, laced out three doubles to lead the Philadelphia Athletics to a 7-6 win over the Cleveland Indians.

The Philadelphia Phillies joined the Cards in a day off.

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
LEXINGTON, Ky., May 10—(P)—If the Red Sox win the American league pennant—and they are sure heading that way now—a lot of the credit should go to Bill McKechnie, though Bill won't claim it. . . . It was Bill who touted Cronin onto Boo Ferris and when Joe was worried about third base, McKechnie asked: "Why don't you use that boy who looked so good against us?" It was Leon Culberson, whose homer won Boston's 12th straight game the other day. . . . Visitors here from the deep south are arguing whether Georgia's Charley Trippi or Alabama's Harry Gilmer will receive the biggest football buildup next fall. . . . Whirlaway, always a friend of the sports writers, did something many of them probably have wanted to do when he bit a publicity man's finger Wednesday.

Naturally

Tom R. Underwood, Lexington Herald editor and secretary of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, likes to tell about the time he dreamed he had gone to heaven. . . . As he approached the gates, he was surprised to find they were exactly like the entrance to the Keeneland track. . . . That looked pretty

Win Ball Game
From Eagles

Kilbury Pitched
First Ball; Bagby
There to Catch it

The Missouri Pacific Eagles were unable to shake the opening game jinx that has dogged every Sedalia ball club this season as the McDougal All Stars of Kansas City defeated the Eagles by a score of 10 to 2.

A capacity crowd was on hand to witness the opening pitch by C. R. Kilbury, superintendent of the local shops, with Mayor Julian H. Bagby doing the receiving. Harry Brougher, president of the Teen Age club, was the first batter.

Chief Booster Fred Rose presented an American flag to Mr. Brougher, who in turn presented the flag to Teen Town to be hung in their club room. Wm. Stewart, photographer of the Missouri Pacific Lines magazine of St. Louis, was on hand and took several pictures.

The Smith-Cotton band under the direction of Ralph Guenther played a concert before the game and also gave several selections during the game.

One Run Lead

The McDougal's got off to a one run lead in the first inning. After F. Alexopoulos struck out, Conklin was safe on an error, stole second and advanced to third on a passed ball, scoring on an outfield fly. They added two more in the second on two errors, a walk and a stolen base. After being held scoreless in the third they came back to add one in the fourth on two errors, a walk and a fielder's choice.

The Eagles put on a rally in their half of the fifth when hits by Hill, Buecke and Satterwhite and an error were good for two runs.

McDougal's put the game on ice in their half of the seventh when four errors, two hits and an outfield fly were good for five runs.

Good Pitching

Spicer, the McDougal pitcher struck out 15, issued two walks and gave up four hits. Buecke, on the mound for the Eagles, turned in a good pitching performance, giving up only four hits, walking two and striking out five, but ten errors committed by his teammates proved his downfall.

Score by innings:
McDougal's 120 101 5—10 4 2
Eagles 000 020 0—2 4 10

Benefit Game

The proceeds of the gate receipts, after all expenses, including the guarantee to the visiting team, will be turned over to the Teen-Town club.

CMSTC Diamond
Celebration

WARRENSBURG, Mo., May 10 —(P)—Central State Teachers College, which opened as a normal school in 1871, today began its diamond jubilee celebration.

After an anniversary convocation this morning, the two-day program includes reunions and dinners tonight; a parade Saturday morning followed by a memorial service for the 63 alumni who died in World War II and a homecoming dance Saturday night.

No physical trace remains of the first quarters for the opening classes were held in public school rooms. Its first graduating class numbered seven, "three ladies and four gentlemen." Its first building was not ready for occupancy until 1881 and members of the faculty had to contribute funds from their own salaries to furnish the class rooms.

Home-Building

By Francis M. Le May
WASHINGTON, May 10—(P)—Administration hopes for the OPA reared today after the house reversed itself to vote $400,000,000 in subsidies for President Truman's emergency home-building program.

The tally was 187 to 158. Last month the Chamber turned down the premium payments, 161 to 92.

Democratic leaders attributed the change to the 10-day Easter recess, which gave many members their first chance in months to find out at home how their constituents are thinking.

Speaking privately for the most part, these leaders voiced confidence the house also would abate on price control extension which the house last month hammered down to a point where OPA Administrator Paul Porter said the agency would be without power after June 30.
